Course Description

This course is designed to cover topics in public policy and administration, with the primary focus on governance and administration in Seoul S. Korea. The primary goal of the class is to further our understanding of city management, specifically the policies and programs that cities can adopt to meet the challenges facing any large metropolitan area. We will focus on the Seoul Municipal Government (SMG) and use their administrative and policy efforts as a case study. An additional goal is to give students the opportunity to travel abroad and gain knowledge of a different culture. The readings and discussions are designed to cover several key areas of governance and administration including the built environment, economic development, human rights, and human services. This course involves several class meetings prior to going abroad and 40 hours of classroom work while in South Korea.

As a major part of the course, students will spend seven days in Seoul, South Korea, and participate in a program designed as “Case Study: Policy Management in Seoul” hosted and organized by the Seoul, Korea Metropolitan Government (SMG) in partnership with the University of Seoul. The program involves numerous presentations and field visits for graduate students in public administration and related fields to experience and understand Korea's politics, economy, and culture during their stay in one of Asia's largest, most modern, and progressive cities. The program will not only enhance students' understanding of Seoul's public administration but also provides a window of opportunity for academic cooperation and exchange of ideas for the management of the modern megacities.

Core Competencies

This course is designed to respond in part to the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs Administration (NASPAA) common curriculum components:

1. Ability to lead and manage in public governance
2. Ability to participate and contribute to the policy process
3. Ability to analyze, synthesize, think critically, solve problems, and make decisions

4. Ability to articulate and apply a public service perspective
5. Ability to communicate and interact productively with a diverse and changing workforce and citizenry

Course Objectives

After the successful completion of this course, students should be able to:

- (1) Analyze how SMG has responded to global, national, and local discourses in the design and implementation of its self-reinvention and governance reforms.
- (2) Explore how indigenous and globalized cultural, political, and economic ideas interact in Seoul's governance and reforms.
- (3) Assess the use and significance of primary and secondary data sources.
- (4) Identify the opportunities and challenges of field research and the case study approach, especially in a foreign country.
- (5) Analyze and synthesize lessons learned about your specific policy areas of interest.
- (6) Explore and discuss the lessons learned for SMG and for policymakers and managers in other cities; and

Course Requirements

Financial Aid Attendance Requirement [2%]

All faculty members are required to document students' academic activity at the beginning of each course. Completing your Welcome Assignment will meet this requirement and document that you began this course. This activity is mandatory to comply with UCF's new Financial Aid policy and must be completed by the end of the first week of classes or as soon as possible after adding the course, but no later than by 4:59 p.m. on Friday, the first week. Failure to do so will cause a delay in the disbursement of your financial aid.

Attendance and Participation [33%]

Attendance at all sessions in Orlando, as well as all classroom, field trip, and special event sessions in Seoul is required and expected. This class will be in a seminar format with a heavy emphasis on participation. Students will be expected to share their knowledge and opinions of required readings and related materials during every session. All required readings should be completed and prepared for discussion in advance of each class session. Students will be evaluated based on the following criteria: promptness, courtesy, and quality of intellectual engagement with our hosts, participants from other universities, and each other.

Research Proposal [20%]

Based on the course readings assigned for classroom discussion in Orlando, students will develop a 2-page project proposal (double spaced) outlining the final research project. The proposal should cover the topic of study selected by the student, the data or information needed from the Seoul Municipal Government, and a plan of action for completing the project. All research proposals should be submitted via Webcourses no later than 11:59 PM on Sunday, September 25th. Late proposals will not be accepted.

Potential Topic Areas

- Aging
- Infrastructure and development

- Education
- Quality of life and public health
- Health services
- Social welfare
- Smart city
- International development
- Social innovation networks (collaboration with NGOs)
- Women-friendly programs
- Public housing
- IT and E-government
- Green policies
- Emergency management
- Immigrant integration

Final Research Project [40%]

After our return from Seoul, students will complete a final research project (15 to 20 pages in length, double spaced). This project can take one of two forms – management or policy evaluation. First, students will conduct a thorough review of relevant literature to serve as the basis for evaluation. Second, students will provide a review and evaluation (which does not have to be quantitative) of a management issue or policy reform adopted by SMG. As part of the evaluation, students will provide a discussion comparing SMG to the U.S. Papers will be evaluated based on (1) the thoroughness and accuracy of the information reviewed, comparison to the U.S., and evaluative arguments presented, (2) the adequacy of references to the appropriate literature, and (3) the absence of grammatical and spelling errors. Research projects should be submitted via Webcourses no later than 11:59 PM on Friday, December 2nd. Late projects will not be accepted.

Suggested Outline for Final Research Project
Part 1	Title page, Executive Summary, Table of Contents (10%)	Title page should contain the title and date. Executive Summary should contain brief information on the major arguments and findings of the memo.
Part 2	Introduction (10%)	Should include the aim of the paper, statement of the problem, research questions, relevance, and importance/significance.
Part 3	Literature Review (focus on governance/governance reforms)	Should include the conceptual/theoretical framework with 15-20 scholarly sources and a brief description of the country/case relevance.
Part 4	Methodology	Should include the research design, strategy, hypotheses, and data collection methods.
Part 5	Findings, Discussions, and Conclusion	Should include the research findings (3- 4 tables), conclusions, suggestions, policy and/or management implications, recommendations, and lessons learned.
Part 6	References, Appendices	Should use APA style citation in the text and references, references in alphabetical order, and appendices (if any).

Writing Ability: Successful graduate-level work requires reasonable proficiency in writing skills (grammar, spelling, syntax, use of paragraphs, and punctuation), as well as proper documentation of sources and citation of references. Be sure to check all your written assignments before submitting them, as points will be taken off for improper spelling and poorly worded sentences.

Reflection Paper [5%]

After the completion of the research project, students will submit personal and informal 2–3-page reflections on the course experience. The reflection papers will need to be submitted via Webcourses no later than 11:59 PM on Sunday, December 4th.

Academic Honesty

The School of Public Administration's programs holds students to high standards of integrity. Each student is expected to uphold the principles and values presented in UCF’s Golden Rule <http://goldenrule.sdes.ucf.edu/Links> to an external site. for further clarification of this issue. All work you submit must be your own scholarly and creative efforts for this course only. Students may not submit a paper to this class that has been previously submitted to another class or that is being submitted to a class in the same semester. It might be appropriate for a paper to address the same issue, use the same theories, etc., but the writing must be original for each class submission. If a student wants to use some or all of another assignment, they must obtain written approval from the professor.

Plagiarism, copying, and all other types of cheating will not be tolerated. All abuses will be reported to the University. Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to, not acknowledging sources of information appropriately and in accordance with APA guidelines, "copying and pasting" without putting into your own words (even if a citation is used), and any other instance where one person utilizes the words or ideas of another without giving proper credit. Note that plagiarism does not have to be intentional in order to be penalized—even inadvertent instances will subject a student to punishment. You must cite often in each paragraph. Citing once at the end of a paragraph is not acceptable. Students who observe others violate this policy are expected to report this to the instructor. Cheating or plagiarism may result in a failing grade for the assignment and/or a failing grade in the class and potential removal from the program. In all cases, a report will be filed with the Office of Student Conduct.

To prevent problems, this course utilizes the Turnitin submission tool for all your written works. The tool helps students review whether they are committing unintentional plagiarism. The Turnitin is linked with the assignment tab in the UCF Webcourses. Once you upload your work, you will see the similarity score. Normally the similarity score should be within the 10% range. So, if the score is beyond the range, I strongly recommend you revise it (update citations, paraphrasing, quotation, and references) before you make a final submission.

Communication with Instructor:

You will be expected to have daily access to the internet and email since I will be emailing you constantly about assignment updates, additions, and changes. All students at UCF are required to obtain a Knight's Email account and check it regularly for official university communications. If you do not own a computer, there are computers accessible to you in all UCF's computer labs, and most computer labs have computers connected to the internet. For further information on computer labs, please see the following website: <http://guides.ucf.edu/c.php?g=78577&p=517810>.

In this class, our official mode of communication is through email located inside Webcourses. All communication between student and instructor and between student and student should be respectful and professional. It is the student's responsibility to check the "course email" tool frequently. You may also wish to create a Knight's Email account at www.knightsemail.ucf.edu for separate official communication from the university.

Here are a few suggestions regarding email:

- Please include "Subject" headings (e.g., Activity 1, quiz 2 grade).
- Be patient. I check e-mail several times a day during the week, and you can usually expect a response within 24 to 48 hours. I cannot guarantee that I will respond to email over the weekend or during the evenings on weekdays. Please do not wait until the last minute before an assignment is due to email me with questions.
- Remember that e-mail communication does not have the face-to-face communication benefits of voice inflection, body language, etc. As a result, it is very easy for misunderstandings to occur with email.
- If you have any questions about any e-mail I send, you should talk to me.

Make-Up Assignments for Authorized University Events or Co-Curricular Activities

Students who represent the university in an authorized event or activity (for example, student-athletes) and who are unable to meet a course deadline due to a conflict with that event must provide the instructor with documentation in advance to arrange a make-up. No penalty will be applied. For more information, see the UCF policy at:

<http://policies.ucf.edu/documents/4401.1MakeupAssignmentsForAuthorizedUniversityEventsOrCocurricularActivities.pdf>

University Writing Center

Successful graduate-level work requires reasonable proficiency in writing skills (grammar, spelling, syntax, use of paragraphs, and punctuation), as well as proper documentation of sources and citation of references (APA 7th edition). Poor writing and use of APA will result in a lower grade on assignments.

The UWC's purpose is not merely to fix or edit papers, but to teach writing strategies that can be applied to any writing situation. Consultations are available for individuals and small groups. You may schedule a 45-minute appointment by clicking the Success Resources tab on Webcourses, calling the UWC at 407-823-2197, or through the UWC website. University Writing Center, Colbourn Hall 105, Satellite Locations: Main Library, Rosen Library, Online, 407-823-2197, <http://uwc.cah.ucf.edu/>.

Accessibility Statement

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing reasonable accommodations for all persons with disabilities. This syllabus is available in alternate formats upon request. Students who need accommodations in this course must be registered with Student Accessibility Services, Ferrell Commons, 7F, Room 185, phone (407) 823-2371, TTY/TDD only phone (407) 823-2116, before requesting accommodations from the professor. Then, the students must contact the professor at the beginning of the semester to discuss needed accommodations. No accommodations will be provided until the student has met with the professor to request accommodations.

UCF Library

Students who are logged in to Webcourses@UCF and click on a Library link will automatically have access to library resources. They will no longer need to log in to online Library services if they are already logged into an online course. Students outside of online courses can now log in to the Library using their PID and PID password instead of their library number. Distance students or branch campus students will no longer need to get a UCF ID card with a library number to access library resources from off-campus.

Student Rights to Privacy (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, or FERPA, is the United States federal law that protects student records privacy review and disclosure rights. The law guarantees these rights for both current and former UCF students.

Additionally, FERPA specifies that UCF faculty and staff in most circumstances may not disclose personally-identifiable information about students or release educational records to 3rd parties without receiving written and signed consent. Circumstances do exist, however, under which UCF may release personally identifiable information or educational records without students' knowledge or consent. Personally-identifiable information includes any data or information that includes the student's name, parent's name, other family members, and the student's social security number or student identification number (UCFID). Additionally, any list of personal characteristics or other information that would make the student's identity traceable is not allowed to be disclosed without consent.

Students should not make any personally identifying information on a public site. Do not post or provide any private information about yourself or your classmates. Some written assignments posted publicly may require personal reflection/comments, but the assignments will not require you to disclose any personally identity-sensitive information. If you have any concerns about this, please contact your instructor. Students should refer to the FERPA <http://registrar.ucf.edu/ferpa> Links to an external site.for further clarification of this issue

Campus Safety

Though most emergency situations are primarily relevant to courses that meet in person, such incidents can also impact online students, either when they are on or near campus to participate in other courses or activities or when their course work is affected by off-campus emergencies. The following policies apply to courses in online modalities.

- Stay informed about emergency situations, and sign up to receive UCF text alerts by going to my.ucf.edu and logging in. Click on "Student Self Service" located on the left side of the screen in the toolbar, scroll down to the blue "Personal Information" heading on your Student Center screen, click on "UCF Alert", fill out the information, including your e-mail address, cell phone number, and cell phone provider, click "Apply" to save the changes, and then click "OK."
- Students with special needs related to emergency situations should speak with their instructors outside of class.

Religious Observances

Students must notify their instructor in advance if they intend to miss class for religious observance. For more information, see the UCF policy at:

<http://regulations.ucf.edu/chapter5/documents/5.020ReligiousObservancesFINALOct17.pdf>

Active-Duty Military Statement

Students who are deployed active-duty military and/or National Guard personnel and require accommodation should contact their instructors as soon as possible after the semester begins and/or after they receive notification of deployment to make related arrangements.
